Amy Wool-Kettell has been a dance teacher and choreographer for for over 20 years. Her journey in dance began in the Lakes Region of New Hampshire at the age of four. After high school, she continued her passion of dance at Dean College in Franklin Massachusetts where she graduated with an Associates of Arts Degree. In those two years she was awarded the Gregory Hines Tap Scholarship, The Carrie Grant Chilson Award for Excellence in Music and Dance, Dean College Trustees Award for Dance, and the Franklin School for the Performing Arts Showcase Scholarship. After she continued her dance education at the reputable University of the Arts in Philadelphia with a major in modern dance. In 2000 she returned to Dean College to become the first recipient of the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Dance. She has trained at the Gus Giordano Dance School in Chicago and has studied under many Nationally recognized dance instructors in New York City. She has the privilege to work with students of all ages and skill levels. Every year her innovative choreography has led students to win numerous high scoring awards in various dance competitions throughout the northeast. Amy continues to share her passion for dance, nurturing talent and instilling a love for the art form in her students.
